

The Garden Is The First Holographic Fractal Novel

Reading The Garden is like walking on sacred ground and can be used for clearing your mind and opening your heart. It is the first book ever written that mirrors your own consciousness.

The Golden Mean Spiral has been observed throughout history and is believed to be the pure infinite language of The Universe. It is found everywhere in nature: The Nautilus Shell, the face of a Sunflower, in our fingerprints and DNA as well as the Milky Way in the Heavens above. The Garden has been conceived within this spiral in the structure of words, pictures and meanings, and represents the transcendence between body and soul.

The Garden is a bridge between your physical being and the intangible essence of your spirit, gently guiding your mind through a doorway of transcendence to a higher plane of existence. This multidimensional book, The Garden, has been constructed using holographic fractal words and pictures connecting you to all life and all possibilities and as you enter into an experience of unconditional love you become the essence that forms the Golden Spiral.

A powerful aura can be felt in, through, and around this beautiful book as you and The Garden become one with each other. Within the book there is a moment of pure love as you merge with the feelings imbued by the words and pictures.

The “dream within a dream” inside the story represents unconditional love which is the origin of all things in and beyond this world. This book finds itself in a spiral of no beginning and no end and will have a profound effect on unifying and heightening the presence of soul within you that is your perfect self.

Our world needs to undergo an incredible transformation to heal our emotions and weary bodies. We need to sincerely reconnect to spirit and love. The Garden is an inner journey we all must take – a rites of passage that is the intrinsic nature of every human being seeking spiritual enlightenment.
